

Japan and Britain, 1613: Parallels and Exchanges

19 - 21 September 2013

SOAS University of London/ British Library

The conference will address the history of Japan and Britain in and around the year 1613. Both countries were undergoing massive cultural, religious and political transformations at the time, and it is instructive to look at their respective systems of restructuring and recreation in parallel and comparatively. Moreover the two nations encountered each other directly for the first time that year

This conference is a major element in Japan400, a series of commemorations scheduled for across the UK and Japan to commemorate this landmark year: www.japan400.com

The event is free and open to all but booking is recommended to guarantee a place.
